This Weekend GetAway

Bheemeswari

Bheemeswari is situated on the banks of the Cauvery, just south of Bangalore in eastern Mandya District. The turnoff from NH209 onto the village road at Halagur, just a short way out of Bangalore, transports you to meandering roads down green mountainsides. The only traffic stops will be the rare herd of spotted deer sailing across the road. This is only a taste of what awaits you at the camps in Bheemeshwari.

Location:

100 km South from Bangalore. Drive from Bangalore on NH 209 to Halagur Village via Kankapura and Sathanur. From Hallagur Village, carry on to Bheemeshwari via Muthati on the village road.

Activities:

There are several great fishing camps at Bheemeshwari where you can try your luck. The Cauvery here is full of crocodiles, otters and turtles (swimming is prohibited here). The lush forest surrounding Bheemeshwari shelters hordes of wildlife - herds of elephants, deer, wild boars, monkeys, jackals, and even leopards! Some wild animals come close to the campsites at Bheemeshwari and you can go for guided Nature treks into the surrounding countryside.

Things to Pack:

Mosquito repellent, a torch, sun protection, comfortable rugged clothing, camera, water-proof footwear.

Accommodation:

Tented Cottages and Log huts at the various fishing camps. Be sure to book in advance.
